Group Coaching

Providing group coaching for leadership team members where personal and professional growth would enhance their influence and effectiveness in the organization.

Because the goal of group coaching is individual development in a group setting, the group size should be limited, with a suggested group size of up to 8. While group members do not have to be in the same business unit nor have the same organizational focus, members should be at the same organizational level for open dialogue.

Success is dependent on the participants' engagement. Participants that want to participate vs either real or perceived thinking they have to participate are more likely to have transformation in group coaching.

How group coaching can help

Help leaders make meaningful progress against their goals while:

Breaking down silos

Strengthening relationships across the organization

Enhancing system thinking and understanding of the business

Deepening trust and building support networks

Creating strong connections across geographies
